

“Perhaps they are not stars in the sky, but rather openings where our loved ones shine down to let us know they are happy.”

– Inuit proverb

As the months go by, we know the loss of your loved one is still so close to your heart.

Your loved one's life is celebrated in special ways, by many people, including those who may have been saved and healed through donation.

To learn how your loved one is helping others, or for more information on sharing your loved one's story, please contact our donor family services
