

Have you tried 2 or more antidepressants?

TMS may be right for you.

Having persistent depression that's not responding to medications can make you feel like you're out of options.

But there is hope.

Transcranial magnetic stimulation (TMS) is an FDA-approved, safe, non-drug treatment for depression, and it's available here and now!

DEPRESSED BRAIN

NON-DEPRESSED BRAIN

TMS uses a mild magnetic field to activate the part of the brain that's under-stimulated in people with depression, and the results are life changing.

TMS is covered by most insurances.

83% of patients experience improvement in depression symptoms and 62% complete relief (no symptoms at all) after treatment.
